Fixing materials are available at the registration desk. There will be three poster sessions: on Monday (17.30-19.30), Tuesday and Wednesday at 17.00-19.00. The list of posters and abstracts are in the separate abstract book for posters. Presenters should check the day when their poster is scheduled for presentation. They should indicate on the list at registration if they want their poster to be considered as a candidate for a poster prize. As the poster sessions are excellent occasions for discussion, we would like the presenters to be present at their posters. Complementary drinks will be available during the poster sessions. We ask presenters to take down their poster at the end of the session on the day of presentation.

Facilities Posters

Posters from European neutron laboratories and proposed facilities will be displayed throughout the conference on the first floor of AF-Borgen just outside Stora Salen, where the plenary lectures and parallel sessions are held.

Exhibitors

The exhibitor's display will be displayed throughout the conference in the ground floor of AF-Borgen in Tegnens.

Publications/Conference proceedings

Papers presented at this Conference can appear in either Journal of Physics: Condensed Matter or Measurement Science and Technology. The UK Institute of Physics publish these prestigious journals and will be responsible for 'peer review' refereeing. Only papers that meet the standards of originality that are normally required by these Journals will be accepted. Original contributions of new, completed work will appear as full length papers. Reviews, accounts of work in progress and other contributions are not appropriate for these Journals.

Information

Papers that describe studies of materials and their properties should be prepared for Journal of Physics Condensed Matter. Descriptions of instrumentation, equipment and development of the neutron scattering technique are suitable for Measurement Science and Technology. Please consider carefully where it is appropriate to publish. The decision concerning acceptance of an abstract for presentation at the conference is independent of whether an article is submitted or accepted for publication in these Journals.

Papers will have to be submitted electronically within two weeks of the end of the Conference (Monday 16 of July 2007). Please note that presentation of work at ECNS will not guarantee acceptance of a paper by the Journals. The editors will maintain the usual standards. If inappropriate papers (brief notes, previously published work, etc.) are submitted, they will be rejected.

Information about the Journals and the requirements for manuscripts can be found on the WWW sites of each Journal.

To submit your manuscript please use the following links:

<http://www.iop.org/EJ/submit/0953-8984/1> for submissions to Journal of Physics: Condensed Matter and <http://www.iop.org/EJ/submit/0957-0233/1> for submissions to Measurement Science and Technology

To make sure that the manuscripts are considered for the special issues related to this conference, please include the text "Submitted for special issue from 4th European Conference on Neutron Scattering" in the 'Special Issue Details' box. This will help the publishers to prioritise these papers.

Social programme

The social programme is a visit to the open air museum Kulturen. This was voted the best museum in Sweden 2006. Guided tours will be available but you are also free to wander around on your own. On entering the museum please show your ticket that is included in the conference material (with your name badge).

Conference dinner

The Conference Dinner will be held at Luftkastellet (<http://www.luftkastellet.se>) at the foot of the Øresund bridge, starting at 19.00. Buses will depart from Bredgatan (in front of the Cathedral in Lund) from 18.00. There will be about 15 buses taking you there. Buses back to Lund will leave Luftkastellet at 23.00 and will stop in the centre of Lund as well as at Scandic Star Hotel, Djingis Khan Hotel and Ibis Hotel so make sure you enter the right bus. Please note that there is no public transport from Lund to Luftkastellet. The last bus leaving will also go via Malmö Central station and continue to Lund. If you are staying in Malmö please check that you take the correct bus.

Public Transport

The major hubs for passenger transport in Lund are the railway station and Botulfsplatsen, the city bus station. Lund has a very extensive network of city buses, which are easily identified by their green colour. Regional public transport is provided by Skånetrafiken which operates both buses and trains. Skånetrafiken's buses are yellow and the Pågatågen - Skånetrafiken's commuter trains - are purple. The direct trains to Denmark “Öresundståg” are grey. Detailed travel information and timetables are found on (<http://www.skane.se/>) and then select internet pages in English. Tickets for trains can be bought from machines at the stations or at the ticket office. Tickets for bus journeys can be bought on the bus. Note that the public transport is integrated in the Öresund region which means that on the city bus in Lund you can buy a ticket all the way to Copenhagen. For Malmö-Sturup Airport there is an airport bus (“Flygbussarna”, <http://www.flygbussarna.se/en>) to/from Lund railway station.

Trains for Copenhagen airport

Direct trains to Copenhagen airport (via Malmö) leave Lund every 20 minutes weekdays from 06.17-23.57, less often other times (<http://www.skane.se/> gives you the exact time table). The train journey takes about 45 minutes. Direct trains to Copenhagen airport from Malmö leave at 20, minutes between 05.00-01.00 and every hour between 00.00 and 05.00. There is frequent train service between Lund and Malmö. Please note there is a special Timetable 17 June 2007 – 1 July 2007.

Taxi

The taxi market is completely deregulated in Sweden so please check the price before you enter the taxi. A trip within Lund city limit should cost a maximum of about 100 SEK. Lund University has an agreement with the two major taxi companies Taxi Skåne (046-330330) and Taxikurir (046-700 000) that means that you get a small discount on the fare if you say you are travelling as a guest of Lund University.
